CHINA-JAPAN

China imposes provisional anti-dumping measures on Japanese dichlorosilane; Japan protests

China's Commerce Ministry imposed provisional anti-dumping measures on Japanese dichlorosilane imports — a key chipmaking precursor chemical — effective Tuesday, requiring cash deposits of up to 99.2% from importers; Japan's government urged withdrawal and announced an assessment of semiconductor supply-chain impact. Dichlorosilane is used in the production of advanced semiconductors, making the measure a direct pressure point on Japan's chip industry and its alignment with US export controls on China.

So what: The measure targets a material central to Rapidus and broader Japanese semiconductor production, intersecting with Japan's economic-security cooperation with the US and ongoing US export-control alignment.

Pattern: China's use of anti-dumping measures against Japanese industrial materials follows a pattern of economic-coercion tools applied alongside diplomatic pressure, consistent with the reference data on China's sustained economic leverage campaign toward Japan.

WASHINGTON POST

ECONOMY-BOJ

BOJ set to hike to 1.25% next week as July wages post biggest gains in decades

Multiple reports project the Bank of Japan will raise its key interest rate by 25 basis points to 1.25% at next week's monetary policy meeting — returning to the highest level in 31 years — after July nominal wages surged 4.7% (the fastest pace in nearly 30 years) and real wages rose 2.4% (the biggest gain since 2021). US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent separately told BOJ Governor Kazuo Ueda that Washington supports efforts to strengthen the yen, per Asahi, aligning US policy signals with Japanese monetary tightening.

So what: A 1.25% BOJ rate and a yen near seven-month highs directly affect Japanese automakers' earnings guidance, carry-trade positions, and the timing of Japanese capital repatriation from US Treasuries.

DPRK

North Korea commissions 2nd nuclear-capable Choe Hyon-class destroyer as Freedom Edge 2026 begins

North Korea commissioned its second Choe Hyon-class guided-missile destroyer — the 5,000-tonne vessel that capsized at its May 2025 launch — with Kim Jong Un declaring it part of Pyongyang's nuclear response system and pledging to build a nuclear-armed navy; the commissioning coincided with the opening day of Freedom Edge 2026, the US-Japan-South Korea five-day trilateral exercise near Jeju Island. North Korea's defense minister condemned the drills and KCNA issued a commentary warning that 'neo-militarism' would bring 'terrible disaster' to Japan.

So what: Two Choe Hyon-class destroyers commissioned within 75 days — both nuclear-capable per DPRK claims — alter the threat calculus for Freedom Edge planning and upcoming US-Japan defense posture reviews.

Pattern: The DPRK's use of major military commissioning events to counter-signal US-Japan-ROK exercises follows established patterns documented in the reference data on North Korean provocation cycles around trilateral drills.

Kremlin rejects Tokyo's request to dismantle WWII memorial in Khabarovsk

Russia's Kremlin said it will not consider Japan's request to remove a statue in Khabarovsk depicting a Soviet soldier destroying a border marker bearing the Imperial Chrysanthemum Crest. The rejection extends the bilateral symbolic-provocation standoff following Putin's Etorofu visit and the August 21 Bastion missile live-fire from the Northern Territories.

Former PM Ishiba visits Seoul, presses for deeper Japan-South Korea ties

Former Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba traveled to Seoul and called for closer ties with South Korea, with Yonhap and Japan Times reporting that many in South Korea view him as taking a sincere approach to historical issues. The visit follows Ishiba's departure from the prime ministership in October 2025.

ECONOMY-BOJ · REUTERS

Reuters: BOJ to bet small on rate hikes now to avoid larger shock later

A Reuters analysis argues the BOJ's incremental approach to rate hikes is designed to manage financial stability risks, particularly Japanese government bond market stress and yen-carry unwind. The analysis comes as hedge funds are betting the yen will strengthen beyond 150 by year-end and the dollar has slipped into the 152 yen zone.

DISASTER · KYODO NEWS

Torrential rain floods Nagoya infrastructure; Level 5 warning issued for central Japan river

Torrential rain struck central Japan and flooded vital infrastructure in Nagoya, with a Level 5 — the highest — emergency flood warning issued for a central Japan river; bullet trains linking Tokyo and western Japan were suspended before services resumed. At least one fatality was reported after a woman drowned in a flooded underpass in eastern Japan.

STAT OF THE DAY

REGIONAL PRESSURE WATCH

High — 37 items (17 Japanese government, 20 adversary signal)

PM Watch: PM appeared today · 1 day(s) since last confirmed appearance — PM Takaichi demanded Russia remove the war-victory statue in Khabarovsk and government confirmed the September 16 cabinet reshuffle plan, with Chief Cabinet Secretary Kihara holding the afternoon press conference to announce Japan's response to China's dichlorosilane anti-dumping measures.

CHINA

China imposed provisional anti-dumping measures on Japanese dichlorosilane — requiring cash deposits up to 99.2% — targeting a key semiconductor precursor chemical; Japan's Chief Cabinet Secretary urged withdrawal and pledged supply-chain impact assessment. The JASDF separately scrambled fighters for Chinese intelligence-gathering flights for five consecutive days, continuing a sustained pattern documented in the regional pressure tracker.

NORTH KOREA

North Korea commissioned its second Choe Hyon-class guided-missile destroyer — the vessel that capsized at its May 2025 launch — with Kim Jong Un declaring it part of Pyongyang's nuclear response system and pledging to build a nuclear-armed navy, timed to coincide with the opening of Freedom Edge 2026; KCNA issued a commentary warning Japan's 'neo-militarism' would bring 'enormous misfortune.'

RUSSIA

The Kremlin formally rejected Tokyo's request to dismantle the WWII memorial statue in Khabarovsk depicting a Soviet soldier destroying a Japanese imperial border marker, extending the bilateral symbolic-provocation standoff following Putin's Etorofu visit and the August 21 Bastion missile live-fire from the Northern Territories.

Senkaku / ECS: JASDF fighter scrambles for Chinese intelligence-gathering aircraft continued for five consecutive days; no new CCG territorial-water intrusion appears in today's articles, though sustained patrol activity remains the baseline.

Chinese Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Mao Ning · Correctly addressing history is a benchmark for testing Japan's commitment to peaceful development: FM spokesperson — Global Times

Bottom line: China escalated economic-coercion pressure via the dichlorosilane anti-dumping measure while DPRK's second nuclear-capable destroyer commissioning timed to Freedom Edge marks a new naval capability benchmark; the Kremlin's flat rejection of Tokyo's statue request leaves all three adversary vectors simultaneously active heading into next week's BOJ rate decision and the September 16 cabinet reshuffle.

JAPAN ECONOMY WATCH (KATZ)

Rise In JGB Yields Decelerates

The pace of increase in Japanese government bond yields has decelerated, suggesting the bond market may be stabilizing even as BOJ rate-hike expectations rise.

Japan Economy Watch analyzes the recent deceleration in the rise of JGB yields, contextualizing it against BOJ policy normalization expectations and potential capital repatriation risk. The analysis is relevant as 10-year JGBs trade at 1.50% and markets widely expect a 25-basis-point hike to 1.25% at next week's BOJ meeting. The piece provides a counterpoint to Bloomberg and Japan Times coverage suggesting markets may be underpricing repatriation speed.

If JGB yield increases are indeed decelerating, the immediate risk of a disorderly carry-trade unwind and US Treasury repatriation rush may be lower than some market analysts project, relevant to MOF and BOJ communication strategy ahead of next week's rate decision.
